Neutrals Expect Intervention.

This is the situation and there seems to be in the minds of those belonging to neither faction no other solution than intervention backed by force on the part of the United States.

It is hard to estimate the force the insurgents have in the field. Logunz del Castillo is in command of the army outside of Havana. He is said to have between 4,000 and 5,000 men. Pino Guerra is at Las Managuas with about the same number. The forces in Santa Clara number, according to best estimates, about 5,000 men. It is doubtful if the government at best could put more than half the number of men in the field that the insurgents have.

Marines Guard Plantations.

The commander of the American gunboat Marietta has placed eighty men of his crew on the Marietta river, a short distance up the Marietta river, to guard the plantations. The Marietta is at Las Managuas with about the same number. The forces in Santa Clara number, according to best estimates, about 5,000 men. It is doubtful if the government at best could put more than half the number of men in the field that the insurgents have.

Guarding Sugar Estate

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—La Discusion publishes a dispatch from Cienfuegos saying that bluejackets from the American gunboat Marietta who were garrisoned at the Soledad sugar estate, have been fired on by rebels.

The Americans returned the fire and the rebels fled.

Funton and Bell
Study War Plans
For Army in Cuba

Preparations for the organization of an army for the occupation of Cuba continued today at the War Department. Brig. Gen. Frederick Funton spent the entire morning in the office adjoining that of Chief of Staff Bell, which has been set aside for his temporary use.

Maps and plans drawn up by the General Staff for use in a Cuban campaign were spread over General Funton's desk. It is intended that before he leaves this city tomorrow for Tampa, Fla., en route for Havana he shall be thoroughly cognizant of the detailed plans for the military occupation of Cuba, which have been laid down by the Army General Staff.

In official circles here little hope is felt for the success of Secretary Taft's mission to Cuba. In the opinion of army and navy officers, the insurgent forces in Cuba do not intend to make peace, but are playing their game with the hope of American intervention, which they would welcome with pleasure.

There is no doubt whatever but that failure on Secretary Taft's part to bring the warring Cubans to terms of peace would mean armed intervention by this country, and both the army and navy are preparing to play their respective parts in the plan of the President.

A cablegram was received by the Navy Department today from Havana announcing the arrival there of the big battleships Louisiana and Virginia and the protected cruisers Cleveland and Tacoma. The Cleveland is to be ordered to proceed immediately to Cienfuegos to take the place of the cruiser Albatross, which, after having landed her 490 marines there, has been ordered to rejoin the naval force Commander W. H. Sutherland in the waters of Santa Domingo. The cruisers Minneapolis and Newark are due to arrive at Havana tomorrow.

CUTS HIS THROAT;
IS 70 YEARS OLD

Despondent because of continued ill-health, August Platt, seventy years old, living at 1736 Seventh street northwest, attempted to commit suicide shortly before noon today by cutting his throat with a razor, while he was in a bathtub.

His wife, Dorothy Platt, was preparing dinner on the first floor when she heard something fall directly over her head. She went to the second floor, and pushing open the bathroom door found her husband lying in the tub, with a deep gash in his throat.

Mrs. Platt, who overcame by the sight of her husband in the tub with blood gushing from his neck that in returning to the first floor she fell down the stairs, but was not injured.

Physicians at the Garfield Hospital, where Platt was sent, stated that he would probably recover.

HOUDINI TO TEST BO
MADE BY KANN PACKERS

Can Kann, Sons & Co.'s packers make a box strong enough to hold Houdini? This is a question to be decided at Chase's Theater tonight.

The challenge has gone forth, and has become a topic of much general interest. The box, which has been carefully constructed of heavy lumber, put together with three-inch wire nails, has been on exhibition in Kann's window for several days, and various have seen the comments concerning the test which the packers have put up for Houdini's solving. Some say it is a fake, others think the handkerchief king will be "stumped" for once, and everybody is wild to see the fun.

The box has been, and will be, in the possession of the challengers until this evening, when it will be sent to the theater with a special attendant to stand guard over it in the lobby until required. Kann's packers will themselves tie and nail Houdini inside of the box, and these sturdy knights of the hammer believe that he cannot escape, at least if he does they do not intend it shall be through any collusion on their part.

And if he does win it is because he can't be held in by any locks, bolts, bars, ropes, boards, or anything.

SURPLUS MAY BE USED
TO REFUND U. S. BONDS

A press dispatch says rumors are again afloat that Secretary Shaw is preparing to use the rapidly increasing surplus to refund or pay in advance their maturity the 4 per cent bonds which will mature next July. Secretary Shaw is absent on campaign business and will be away probably until after election. But he is daily in touch with the department and his absence would not necessarily interfere with the plan, as I have done, with Postum. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Easy to prove by 10 days trial of Postum in place of coffee. The reward is big and "there's a reason."

"DEAD" TWO HOURS;
RETURNS TO LIFE

Patient in Hospital Was Being Prepared for Morgue.

DOCTORS ARE NONPLUSSED
ALL ARE MOHAMMEDANS

Man Apparently Dead Faintly Calls for Salt and Was Soon Restored.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Physicians in St. Joseph's Hospital today are discussing one of the most remarkable cases in the annals of medical science.

Edward McEreen, of Yonkers, after having been "dead" for two hours was restored to life, and today is hale and hearty.

In a street row two weeks ago McEreen was struck on the head with a wrench. At St. Joseph's Hospital it was found that he had a compound fracture of the skull.

Was Pronounced Dead.

While the doctors were working over him on the operating table, his heart stopped beating and his respiration ceased. His body began to grow cold and the doctors pronounced him dead.

Two hours later, when preparations were being made to take his body to the morgue, the "dead" man moved, and in a faint whisper, said:

"God God, give me salt."

The hardened doctors shrunk away, and two of the nurses screamed and almost fainted. But in a moment Dr. Rublee hurried back to the operating table.

Returned to Life.

The physicians ordered a nurse to hurry salt and water and a syringe to the patient. When the salt had been injected into an artery the surgeons started artificial respiration. Oxygen and serum were injected, and after two hours' hard work, the patient showed slight signs of returning life.

LECTURES ILLUSTRATED
BY MOTION PICTURES

Dwight Elmendorf Secures a Fine Collection for His Fall Lyceum Course.

Dwight Elmendorf, the famous travel lecturer, whose talks were enjoyed by so many of the lecture-going public in this city, has returned to his home in New York, after a successful summer trip.

Among the most interesting motion pictures which he will show this fall are some taken during the coronation of the King and Queen of Spain. A picture of remarkable clearness and technical excellence shows the young King and his beautiful bride descending the steps of the cathedral. They pause at the bottom step, the King removes his helmet, while the Queen smilingly bows many times right and left to the crowds of subjects.

Other interesting motion pictures will portray former eruptions of Vesuvius and a wonderful motion picture of the last terrible eruption will be shown. Unfortunately, Mr. Elmendorf was not present during the last eruption, but he succeeded in purchasing the American rights to a picture taken by a foreign firm at the place of the eruption during all of these terrible days.

The subjects for Mr. Elmendorf's fall course of travel-talks will be "Italy I," "The Rhine," "Switzerland," "Italy I," and "Italy I."

world's experience offered, was able to improve only in the matter of elaborating details.

Some Suggestions Offered.

The scheme of developing the Mall is explained in most attractive fashion by Mr. Brown. It is most important, Mr. Brown suggests, that during the long period which must elapse before artistic maturity shall be attained, constant and intelligent watchfulness be exercised. "How to foster and maintain the present movement in the right direction; to control the landscapes, statuary, buildings, and paintings so that the entire scheme shall be unified, and dignify the other, are important questions to decide. This end can be accomplished by securing an advisory board of trained experts who have given legal standing. Under the guidance of such a permanent commission stonage is all due to my having quit coffee and got the big quantity of nourishment I needed through this delicious Postum in place of the dangerous coffee and tea.

"COFFEE DOESN'T HURT ME"

Tales That Are Told.

"I was one of the kind who wouldn't believe that coffee was hurting me," says a N. Y. woman.

"You just couldn't convince me its use was connected with the heart and stomach trouble. I suffered from most of the time. My trouble finally got so bad I had to live on milk and toast almost entirely for three or four years. Still I loved the coffee and wouldn't believe it could do such damage.

"What I needed was to quit coffee and take nourishment in such form my stomach could digest. I had read so much about Postum, the cereal coffee, but never thought it would fit my case until one day I decided to quit coffee and give it a trial and make sure about it. I got a package and carefully followed the directions.

"Soon I found I began to get better and was able to eat carefully selected foods without the aid of pills or other digests and it was not long before I was really a new woman physically.

"Now I am healthy, hearty and sound, and can eat anything and everything that comes along and I know this wonderful coffee and got the big quantity of nourishment I needed through this delicious Postum in place of the dangerous coffee and tea.

"My wonder is why every one don't give up the old coffee and the troubles that go with it and build themselves up as I have done, with Postum. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ODD CREW ABOARD
THIS BRITISH SHIP

The Steamer Imaum Partly Manned by Native East Indians.

Feast Only Off Mutton They Kill
Themselves With Religious Rites.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—Few ships have reached this port with a crew so interesting as that on the British steamship Imaum, now at elevator B, Locust Point. On board the vessel are twenty Mohammedan sailors and twenty-nine crewmen of the same faith, who shipped on the steamer when she sailed with a cargo of sugar from Bombay, India, for Boston. Under the direction of Sheikh Bichoo Balla, the dark, lithe, active man present a picturesque appearance. Small in stature, refined features, and straight black hair and very muscular, they were engaged in performing the usual duties aboard ship.

Kill Their Own Cattle.

The peculiar religious rites of the Mohammedan seamen are interesting features aboard ship. In conformity to their faith, which prohibits them eating any flesh killed by others not of their faith, twelve live sheep were taken aboard the steamer at Bombay, which were killed from time to time during the passage. One sheep a week was used on the steamer's passage, considerable ceremony being observed at each killing.

In every case the animal is offered up for sacrifice, and while the executioner is performing the duty of slaughtering the animal the Mohammedans gather around and offer prayers. Their diet consists of rice and curries, fish and mutton. These sailors are probably the lowest-priced sailors in the business. Their monthly wages range from $5 to $7 a month in American money, but despite this fact they make first-rate men on ship for cooking and deck work, handling and unloading cargoes. Although under the charge of the officer of the deck, they receive orders from their chief, whom they obey implicitly.

Some Expert Jugglers.

In the great Mohammedan faith there are three great occasions each year for the observance of religious worship—one day each in November and January and ten days in March.

When the steamer arrived at Boston her supply of live sheep had been exhausted and six more sheep were taken aboard to supply the men with food while on the way and in this port. A number of those on board are noted jugglers and magicians, and while they will not perform for the officers, when among themselves they pass the time performing feats in the black art. The rest of the Imaum's crew consists of six Portuguese seamen, some of whom are cooks and stewards, and a few others of a chief steward, who is an Englishman.

The Imaum is commanded by Captain Wiedahl, and is here to load about 1,000 tons of oats and a general cargo for Havre, France.

PENILESS CHILD

Eleven-Year-Old Girl Thereby Becomes Heiress to Half a Million.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Little Alice Cleghill, eleven years old, who was never out of Kansas before, today is mistress of former Senator C. H. Hipwell's big mansion at 1746 Wrightwood avenue, his adopted daughter and heiress of $500,000 in gilt-edged real estate.

Mr. Hipwell owns four big houses in Wrightwood avenue. He owns some fertile Iowa farms and some choice real estate in Davenport, Iowa. Till now he has not wanted for anything that money could buy, but there was a big, aching spot in his heart, for he was very lonely and one day was dull and gray, just like another.

That was since April, when his beautiful wife, whom he had wooed and married in Iowa, where he had been Senator, grew sick and died. For her he had built the big mansion in Wrightwood avenue, and stocked it with everything beautiful.

When she died he closed the doors and nailed boards across them. Weeds grew around the lawn and the place was deserted.

Little Alice was living in Kansas, never dreaming of Wrightwood avenue. Her mother suddenly disappeared. She had been Mr. Hipwell's sister. No one could see her. She was dead, but the child was too young to understand what death means.

Little Alice grieved so intensely for her father thought she would die. He sent her to her uncle's house. The little girl's grief softened, and her pretty ways endeared her to the lonely old man. When her father sent for her to come back to Kansas, Mr. Hipwell could not endure the loss, and with the consent of little Alice's father he adopted her.

CRUMBLING INTO RUINS

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Chicago's new $10,000,000 postoffice is settling and crumbling. It threatens to follow the fate of its predecessor, the $5,000,000 postoffice, which settled into the earth and crashed down ten years ago. Cracks are appearing on the Adams street side, and some of the huge granite stones are out of plumb. Settlements are also shown on the Clark street side.

The present structure has been occupied less than a year. It was more than ten years in building. It was designed by Supervising Architect Cobb, signed by Supervising Architect Cobb, and everything that invention and engineering skill could accomplish was done to make the foundation solid.
